Professor Peter Spurgeon, Medical Leadership Project Director, NHS Institute for Innovation and Improvement
"Making change actually happen takes leadership. It is central to our expectations of the healthcare professions of tomorrow". Lord Darzi's Next Stage Review
The Medical Leadership Competency Framework is to be incorporated into all specialty curricula by 2010. How are we going to deliver this aspect of the curricula?

10:45 Coffee

Enhancing Trainer/Trainee Interactions

11:00 Optimising Clinical Supervision
Professor Tony Ghaye, Director, Reflective Learning UK
To ensure patient safety, it is essential that standards of training do not fall as a consequence of the WTD. Tony will discuss with us some ideas and strategies for sustaining high quality interactions between junior and senior practitioners. Interactions that are focused, structured, make learning visible and which lead to positive action. We hope to work with Tony on a project to promote processes that ensure that all clinical areas are rich and supportive learning environments.
